Biographical / Historical

Though Western Connecticut State University has offered courses in art since early in its history, in 1950, James W. Timmins joined art faculty member Hazel D. Tobias, thereby the formation of a Department of Art was formed. In 1961, a four-year Liberal Arts (Bachelor of Arts degree) program was offered at the college and by 1967 the Art Department had five faculty members, including Robert Alberetti, with James Timmons as department. A minor in Art was offered in 1980 and in 1992, a Bachelor of Arts degree in Studio Art; painting, printmaking, or sculpture and ceramics, was made available.

During Alberetti's career at WCSU, he accumulated a collection of student art and prints which were stored in White Hall which had been the Art Department's home. Upon completion of the Art Center on the Westside campus, materials stored at White Hall were transferred to the Archives.

Scope and Contents

The collection is made up of student and faculty art as well as materials purchased by or donated to WCSU. The Collection includes: Etchings and engravings obtained from Westport antique dealer Charles Zimmerman, pieces of art collected by Professor Robert Alberetti, original art work by students and Robert Alberetti, and pieces by Allen Hermes that Alberetti had aquired. In addition, the Art Department accepted a collection of drawings (cartoons) from a local stained glass artist, Lawrence Y. Leopold. These materials were transferred to the Archives with the other materials from White Hall. Many of the stained glass drawings are in poor condition and remain lightly processed.

The pieces of art were stored in sub-optimal conditions in White Hall for many years and many sustained light damage and dirt build-up.

The collection does not contain any records from the Art department or documentation to accompany the art objects. Many of the pieces have been photographed or scanned.

When possible, pieces of original art were hung in various places in the Haas Library.

Arrangement

Materials are grouped in accordance with the original order of the materials as they had been stored. Prints and original pieces were collocated separately as were student works.

General

These items belonged to John B. Hermansader, an artist, designer and framer from West Redding, CT who is best known for his cover paintings for Jazz and Blues records in the 1940s and 50s. The original provenance of these engravings and prints is unkownn, but at least one is marked to have once belonged to East Lane Antiques of Darien, CT. Many of the items are signed by the artist and some are signed by the subject. These items were held by Robert Alberetti of the WCSU Department of Art until that departments relocation to the West Side Campus.

Stained Glass by Lawrence Ysbrand Leopold (1934-2014)

Digital Object: Stained Glass (L.Y. Leopold)

Language of the Material: English

Biographical / Historical

Lawrence Ysbrand Leopold (1934-2014) was born and grew up on a farm in Pennsylvania where his father made leaded glass. Taking his artistic skill with his familial experience with leaded glass, the younger Leopold apprenticed in a stained glass shop in Florida in the 1950s until his boss encouraged him to move to Germany to learn from a master craftsman. For three years Leopold served an apprenticeship in Munich, Germany. In 1958, Leopold returned to this country and eventually opened a shop in New York City. In the late 1970s he moved to Connecticut. The New Haven Register (CT) - Sunday, May 28, 1989 wrote of Leopold: "Leopold is a master craftsman whose stained glass windows can be seen in churches and temples around the world. His work can be found in Germany, where he learned his skills as an apprentice, and in Vietnam, where he created a stained glass window for a memorial chapel. It can also be found in Mexico, South America, throughout the United States and in parts of Canada. Tucked away in the basement of the general store in Pleasant Valley, near the town of Barkhamsted, Leopold creates magic with colored glass, paint, a variety of hand tools, lead, a kiln and a bounty of God-given talent."

To create a piece of stained glass, the artist makes a sketch; once the sketch is approved or is acceptable, a cartoon, or pattern, is made on heavy paper the actual size as the window. The pattern is then cut and used to cut with special cutting wheels the colored glass that will be used in the window. Each piece is painted with a special paint and are fired in a kiln to permanently embed the paint into the glass. The pieces are assembled with flexible lead fitted around the edges of the glass pieces.

This collection includes sketches and cartoons for stained glass. The pieces were commissioned by churches, private schools, and private residences. Church designs are Roman Catholic, Eastern Orthodox, and Protestant. Among those; Mt. Zion, A.M.E., Danbury, CT; Trinity Episcopal, Torrington, CT; Advent Christian, Torrington, CT Immanuel Lutheran, Bristol, CT; St. Stephens Episcopal, Delmar, NY; The Church of St. Patrick, Farmington, CT; and the Chapel at Kent School, Kent, CT. Leopold is credited on many of the designs and layouts.

Allen Hermes

Language of the Material: English

Biographical / Historical

Allen Hermes (1913 – 2004) English born artist and sculpture, Hermes came to the United States at 16, attended school in Buffalo where he won a national poster which entitled him to a four-year scholarship at Syracuse University. He graduated with honors with a degree in fine arts and the Hazard Fellowship, which afforded him a year to study art and architecture in Germany. In 1942 Hermes married Helen Davis, daughter of Dwight Davis who served as Secretary of War in the Coolidge administration and founded the Davis Cup tennis tournament. Hermes served in World War II and after the war, settled in Redding, Connecticut. Hermes' paintings are described as being "closest to Baroque."

Mrs. Hermes earned a master's in psychology from Western Connecticut State University later in life.

Art Department Print Collection

Language of the Material: English

Scope and Contents

During the late 1960s and early 1970s the nascent Art Department began creating a permanent collection of prints and original art for the University. WestConn hosted at least one exhibit per semester of items created by students and faculty. As items could not be purchased, pieces were according to Bob Alberetti traded for with galleries and dealers. One important gallery in this process was the Ferdinand Roten Gallery. Other pieces were acquired via a Connecticut Office of the Arts grant for purchasing items created by Connecticut artists.
