Biographical / Historical

Danbury Teacher's Quarterly (1941) The students of Danbury State Teacher's College produced this literary journal. Only one issue exists in the Archives.

The WasteCann-(1987) It was an "underground" publication that served as a backlash against university president Stephen Feldman and his administrative staff. Hostile words along with the characterization of President Feldman as Adolf Hitler expressed the feelings of this publication. The author, or authors, of this publication is still unknown.

Smoke Signals

Language of the Material: English

Biographical / Historical

Smoke Signals-(1957-1973) This was the official student handbook of the college. Published annually by the Cooperative Government Association (later the Student Government Association). The title reflects the fact the athletic teams were known as the Indians. It stopped publication in the mid 1970s when the school changed the name to the Colonials.

Memorial Hall Magazine, (c.a. 1964) This magazine was published to illustrate the different kinds of events and activities that took place in Memorial Hall. We have only one issue.

The Pennington (1935). One issue which contains names of faculty, class officers, seniors, clubs and officers, Student Council Officers (1932-1935), and "News from Class Members" (alumni).
