[EXTRACT FROM THE WATERBURY REPUBLICAN,
JUNE 14, 1895.]

SEWAGE DIPOSAL.

THE WATERBURY COMMITTEE INSPECT THE BLACK SYSTEM.

They Have Returned From Their Visit to Fitchburg and Were Much Pleased with What They Saw—The Trial of the Black Device was Satisfactory.

City Engineer Cairns and E. L. Frisbie, Sr., have returned from their trip to Fitchburg, Mass., where they went to investigate the Black system of sewage disposal in that place. They are both well pleased with the device and found it exactly as Asher F. Black, the general manager of the United States Sewage Filtering and Fertilizer Company, represented it when he addressed a meeting of citizens in the city hall last fall on the matter. Mr. Cairns stated that he was favorably impressed with the system and thought it a wonderfully ingenious thing. He stated further that it was a brand new thing and that the Fitchburg plant was merely an experimental station but deserved more looking into. Mr. Frisbie also thought well of the device. The process of the disposal of sewage is undergoing a great revolution in this country. It is certain, he says, that interior cities will soon have to adopt some system whereby their sewage can be disposed of in some way which will not pollute the streams passing through or near to the towns. It may be well enough for Waterbury to dump its sewage into the Naugatuck river, but Naugatuck below would not think so if she did not do the same thing herself. Mr. Frisbie further stated that he saw the system in full working order. The whole theory of the device is summed up in the words, separation and filtration. The plant at Fitchburg, Mr. Black informed Mr. Frisbie, had cost upwards of $20,000, but it being the first one put in many things were done that had to be undone and consequently it cost more than a second one would.

The plant is quite large, but Waterbury would need one twice or three times as large. When the Waterburians arrived at the place the engines were started up. The machinery, according to Messrs. Cairns and Frisbie responded to every call. The sewage was pumped directly from a catch basin which received the matter from one of Fitchburg's sewers. It is estimated that the sewer in question discharges about one million gallons a day. It did not take very long to empty it, however, for the consumption was greater than the influx. Generally the machine pumps at the rate of 6,350 gallons an hour. The visitors found no bad odor. The gases generated by the process were carried off and consumed by the furnace. Some of the solid refuse was disposed of in the same way, but the sewage is so liquefied that the residue of solids is comparatively small. The water was filtered to a remarkable degree of clearness in a very short time. In view of these facts Mr. Cairns and Mr. Frisbie were of the opinion that the trial at that time was all that could be desired.
