THEY GO TO-MORROW.

Company M Boys Will Undoubtedly Leave Sometime Thursday Afternoon.

As everything is in readiness by to-night for Company M to leave Danbury it is extremely probable that the long-looked for departure of the company will take place some time to-morrow afternoon. As there will be no opportunity to announce the time of departure in the newspapers the celebration will have to be held on the fire alarm, which will sound six strokes two hours before the soldiers leave.

Eighteen of the men who were passed by the examiners a few days ago, will not leave with the company. They were rejected because of defects, but some declined to go to the front for various reasons. The company was filled at noon to-day and Captain King was making up the papers and ordering the individual measurements for equipments.

The revised list of men who will go with Co. M was not ready for publication. The men were working on the muster rolls and when the company will be finally ready to enter on the service of the United States.

It is expected that the company will mustered in at eight o'clock to-morrow morning. The ceremony will be held in the Armory and will be private.

As quickly as possible after being mustered in the soldiers will start for Natick where the regiment is expected to arrive to-morrow from Maine. Captain King said that the company might leave at noon.

The men were all at the Armory this afternoon talking about the coming journey. They are eager to get away and the impatience caused by the long delay of the mustering officer has disappeared entirely. They are fortunate to have with them James Lynch, the restaurant manager, who will probably have charge of their cooking. This afternoon Captain King appointed the musicians and men for other minor offices.

The boys will undoubtedly be given an enthusiastic farewell, no matter what the hour of their departure may be. It is requested that flags and other decorations be placed along the line of march as much as possible and that everyone who can set off fireworks do so.

Captain King has hopes of being able to secure pay for the men of the company to go to the front. The majority of the men have given up their places of employment and have spent the greater part of their time in the armory waiting for their orders. It was not their fault that they were away so long and naturally they expect to be recompensed for their time.

PATRICK COLLINS' FUNERAL.

Patrick Collins was buried in St. Mary's cemetery on Saturday afternoon. He was a native of Co. Down, Ireland, and was born in the year 1823. He came to this country when a young man and engaged in the clothing business in Danbury. He was a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and was much respected by his fellow countrymen.

In conclusion, it may be said that the funeral was a fitting tribute to the memory of a good man.
