Hear me, Ye winds and waves! Your help proud Caesar craves! Bring to my aching breast Peace and eternal rest! No hope in Heav'n above, And torn from all I love, Despair now holds me! Forsaken and undone I pray for Death alone.

I hope I shall never cease loving you, believe me, dear eyes. Nor that I will ever in jest betray you — No! No! You have been and are my inspiration and you will always be, dear eyes my ardent fire — as long as I live.

	Softly through the night is calling
	Love, my song to thee. Shades of night are swiftly falling
	Dearest, come to me.
	In the moonlight gently swinging Whispering leaves I hear;
	No one listens, they are saying
	"Fair one, do not fear." Hark, the nightingales are singing,
	Of my love for thee.
	Tender greetings they are bringing, Gently plead for me.
	Come my love ere dawns the morrow
	Yield thy heart to me. O come to me.
	o come to me.
Abschied .		Schubert
	Adieu, thou lovely city of delight, adieu!
	Tho, my steed champ, impatient to be off.
	I must bid thee this, my last farewell.
	Never once within thy bounds Has sorrow's finger touched my heart.
	Nor shall it now, tho' I must leave thee.
	Adieu, thou lovely city of delight, adieu!
	Adieu, you constant stars, adieu! Bedeck yourselves in film of gray.
	How dim and faint flickers you window's flame
	Beside your multitude, unnumbered.
	Yet may I not linger, I must go on, Tho' your light inviting follow faithful.
	Bedeck yourselves in film of gray;
	Adieu, you constant stars, adieu.
Der Doppelg	ganger	Schubert
	The night is still. The streets are sleeping
	She used to live in yonder house;
	Though long ago she left the city. The house still stands in that same place.
	Who is that man? He looks aloft,
	I shudder when I see his face,
	The moonlight shows me my own features. Thou wraith, thou pallid fellow!
	Why dost thou ape the pains of love
	That tortured me in these surroundings,
	Through the many nights in olden times?

	I'd carve it into all the trees that grow On every stone these graven words I'd show
	With seed of crass I'd sow it far and near,
	In every garden bed it should appear;
	On pages white these words I'd write forever, Thine is my heart alone and shall be thine forever.

> Like blossoms to the sun, So my heart opens to the sound of thy voice! O love, speak again, let all my tears be dried: Let my heart now rejoice Once more in tender love I would fain hear thee say These vows so oft repeated That thou are all my own, Ah repeat, pray it -Ah with love my heart is burning, All my soul for thee is yearning. With love my heart is burning, with love my heart is burning! All my soul for thy love is yearning. As sways the golden wheat with each breath of air When harvest time is near; My heart is strangely mov'd, stirr'd by the Love I bear, When thy voice meets my ear.

Temple Sinai takes pleasure in bringing to Hartford the greatest voice in 100 years, and in doing so, we are completing the celebration of the first year of our existence.

Our religious services are being held in the Church of Christ, Congregational in Newington, and we are proud of this wonderful gesture of friendship. We also note with gratification the advice and help we have received from the Congregation Beth Israel of West Hartford.

We welcome inquiries concerning our Services, Sunday School, and other facilities we have to offer the Jewish residents of Greater Hartford.

President, Temple Sinai J. A. SCOLER
