Party!!! Party!!!
Weekdays vs. Weekends

Weekdays: the time that everyone must concentrate on academics;

the library seems like a second home;
eight o'clock classes seem to last forever;
someone runs down the hall yelling, "Does anyone have any typing paper?"

Sleep is scarce,
and patience even more scarce.

Weekends: the time when books are thrown aside,
providing the work hasn't piled up too much;
eight o'clock doesn't last long,
as most people stumble out of bed at eleven;
someone runs down the hall yelling, "Does anyone have a bottle opener?"

Sleep still scarce,
but enthusiasm more than makes up for it.

It's not that everyone here is clinically dead during the work week;
it's just that life is a bit more obvious when the week is over.

BUSINESS AND DORM BUILDING ARE READY AT WESTSIDE CAMPUS
This year, while WestConn students spent three semesters at work and play, fifty-two Americans were held hostage in Iran for more than a year. The release of the Americans on inauguration day prompted rejoicing all over the country. Students who had expressed frustration and anger at the imprisonment of the American citizens were able to join in the new mood of patriotism and rejoicing that prevailed in the United States.
West Conn students and faculty along with the rest of Connecticut were saddened by the resignation and subsequent death of Connecticut Governor Ella Grasso this past year. In recognition of her unfailing commitment to WestConn and the development of the Westside campus, the Student Government Association Executive Board voted to name the new Westside campus dormitory “Ella Grasso Hall”. Both organizations said they felt they were responding directly to student sentiment with this gesture.
President Bersi to Resign

It was with shock and some sadness that students received the news that WestConn President Robert M. Bersi was resigning his post and going to serve as Chancellor of the University of Nevada System. Bersi's contributions to the school and the academic community turned the corner for WestConn and were largely responsible for the growth of the Westside campus. So as we graduated to continue our lives elsewhere, Dr. Bersi went on to further his career. Best wishes and congratulations went with him.

At the time, I would like to congratulate the graduating class of 1981. Now that you have all completed your education, it is time for you to go on as individuals. Although you will be leaving WestConn, to carry out the career that you studied at W.C.S.C., I am certain that you will leave, with precious memories of Western Connecticut State College. On behalf of the entire undergraduate student body, faculty and administration of W.C.S.C., CONGRATULATIONS and good luck in all your future endeavors.
