

CDO

*History Department
Western Connecticut
State College
FALL 1975*

CLIO

HISTORY DEPARTMENT

Western Connecticut State College

VOLUME III, NUMBER 1

December, 1975

CONTENTS

From the Editor

The Museum Internship Program by Dorothy T. Schling

Report on a Museum Internship by Alison Roth

Quantitative Methods: A WESCONN Project by John Thebarger

Experiencing History by J. V. Friel

The Great Debates: A New Approach to Learning History
Composite Article

Planning a Trip to Europe by Mary Ryan

BOOK REVIEWS:

Humbug: The Art of P.T. Barnum by Neil Harris
Dr. Truman Warner

The Institute of Pacific Relations by John N. Thomas
Dr. Kenneth Young

History Newsletter

* * * * *

NOTE: The cover of this issue consists of a line drawing of the Ryder House at the Scott-Banton Museum. The Insert is from Alison Roth's Internship Exhibit on John Baily of Danbery.

The editors of CLIO wish to thank Jeff Morris for making the drawing of the house on very short notice.

FROM THE EDITOR

* * * *

When we started putting this issue of CLIO together, we had no theme in mind for it. As it turned out, we collected a number of articles on new and different ways for History students to study and learn the subject. Therefore, the theme for this issue has become New Options for the History Student. We, the editofs of CLIO, hope you read and enjoy this issue, our first.

Daniel F. Waterbury
Editor

Editorial Staff:

Daniel F. Waterbury Editor
Valeria Bánfi
Sandy Eriksson
Dawn Whaley
Mr. Arnold Stinchfield Faculty Advisor

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

* * * *

DOROTHY SCHLING is the director of the Scott-Fanton Museum in Danbury. She is now in her second year as the Supervisor of the Museum Internship Program.

ALISON ROTH graduated from WESCONN in 1975 and is now attending the UCONN Graduate School in History. She was one of the first two Museum Interns last year. She was also President of the History Society and Editor of CLIO.

JOHN THEBARGE is a Senior History Major with an interest in Computer Science and Quantatative Methods. He is currently working with Dr. Kelso, of the WESCONN History Department, on a Quantative project.

J. V. FRIEL is a retired executive of the Standard Oil Company working on his Masters in History. He is a teaching assistant in the History Department.

MARY RYAN is a Senior in the Liberal Arts History program. She took her trip to Europe in her Junior Year.

DR. TRUMAN WARNER is an instructor at WESCONN in the History and Social Science departments.

DR. KENNETH YOUNG is an instructor at WESCONN in the History and Social Science departments.