

THIS ISSUE OF CLIO
IS DEDICATED TO
THE WESTERN STUDENTS, FACULTY,
AND STAFF FROM THE GREATER
NEWTOWN COMMUNITY.

Contributors

Theodore Billett, an undergraduate history major, is slated to graduate in May 2013. He has been an editor at Clio for two years and this issue includes his own piece, "Elliott Roosevelt: A Paradoxical Personality in an Age of Extremes." Mr. Billett writes about nineteenth-century American history and the history of science.

Daniel Doty studies history at WCSU and expects to graduate in December of 2013. Outside of his college career, he enjoys casual search on gender identity. During his free time he enjoys playing video games and spending time with friends and family.

Paul Fuller is a senior history major at Western Connecticut State University.

Matt Mango is a senior history major at Western Connecticut State University.

Claudia Ramirez is committed to life-long learning. In addition to being a Psychology major, she's devoted her time to her husband, daughters, and a career as a Physician Assistant.

John Sokolowski is an undergraduate student in his final semester at WCSU. He is most interested in twentieth century conflicts of Western world, propaganda, and watching the sun set on summer evenings.

Jared Stammer is a Pandaren Monk in World of Warcraft. When not defeating ancient Gods to save Azeroth, he sometimes escapes to a mystical, fantasy world of writing history papers for his Graduate program at Western Connecticut State University.

Elizabeth Young is a senior history major at Western Connecticut State University.

Staff

Patrick Shea – President

Sean Keenan – Editor

Gillette de Berry – VP/ Secretary

Matt Mango – Editor

Shannon McDonald – Digital Archiver

Alicia Moniz – Editor

Kaitlyn O'Brien – Treasurer

Marissa O'Loughlin – Editor

Theodore Billet – Editor

John Sokolowski – Editor

Paul Fuller – Editor

Jared Stammer – Editor

Nicholle Jejer – Editor

Dr. Marcy May – Advisor

Dr. Wynn Gadkar-Wilcox – Advisor

