

The Clio Staff, 2015-2016

Carlos Cadena is a Clio editor and a senior history major. He enjoys sports and politics, the way things are progressing it will soon become a contact sport. This is his first and regrettably last year as a member of the Clio staff.

Kyle Coughlin is an editor of Clio and a senior secondary education: history major, who was born and raised around Poughkeepsie, NY. Since attending WCSU, he has taken a broad range of history classes covering topics in European history, American history, Latin and South American history, and Middle Eastern history and has enjoyed looking at history that examines how the events in all these regions are intertwined. Kyle also enjoys politics and music (especially when they are intertwined) and hopes as a teacher, he will be able to find many ways to use art and music to bring history to life for his future students.

Alec Florio is the President of Clio. Born and raised in New Jersey, Alec is a third-year history major, competitive sports enthusiast, and all-around funny guy. In his spare time, he hopes in vain for a winning season from the New York Jets. After graduation, he intends to pursue a career in teaching and researching military history.

Lauren Kerton is the current treasurer of Clio and a junior history major. Since starting college, she has fallen in love with the subject, especially in cultural mythology and folklore. In her free time, Lauren binge watches anime and hangs out at the campus radio station. Lauren lives in Brookfield, Connecticut and is an active member of the WCSU community.

Joshua Kleinwaks is a history major whose interests include politics in the contemporary United States and the history of the Middle East. A senator with the Student Government Association, Joshua has a deep appreciation for the taste of a good New York pizza.

Nathan Seper is a Clio editor. He is working toward a Bachelor of Arts in History. He strongly believes that learning history should be the requirement of any American citizen, for those who do not learn from history are doomed to repeat it.

Nathanial Walker is a second-semester History-Secondary-Education Major minoring in Political Science at WCSU, who is technically Clio's Secretary. In addition to writing overly convoluted essays on simple topics (i.e. Vikings destroying orthodox geographic concepts), he plays the trumpet and reads books.

Faculty Co-Advisors

Wynn Gadkar-Wilcox is the co-advisor of Clio and Professor of History at WCSU. He specializes in Vietnamese intellectual history and historiography in the eighteenth to twentieth centuries. He is the author of Allegories of the Vietnamese Past (Yale Southeast Asia, 2011), and the editor of Vietnam and the West (Cornell SEAP, 2010). His articles have appeared in the Journal of Asian Studies, the Journal of Southeast Asian Studies, and positions: east asia cultures critique, among other journals.

Martha May is the co-advisor of Clio and Professor of History at WCSU. A specialist in twentieth-century social, cultural, labor, and gender history, she is the author of Women in Twentieth Century America (Greenwood, 2009), and co-editor of The New Christian Right: Political and Social Issues (Garland, 1996). Her articles have appeared in Feminist Studies, Labor History, and Social Science Review.
