

Contributors

---

Francine Accuosti is a senior, graduating in May with her Bachelor of Arts degree in history. She is pursuing an advanced degree in history with an emphasis on Pre-Columbian and Conquest America at Arizona State University in the fall and is starting a graduate certificate program in public history at SUNY Empire State in the summer. In her spare time, she enjoys spending time with her husband and family, gardening, sewing, and making cosplay for conventions.

Kayvon Atherton is a 21-year-old student here at Western Connecticut State University. He has enjoyed history for a long time, and it was always a hobby for him. Originally uninterested in the region of Latin America, he is now finding sincere enjoyment in the subject especially in its revolutions. In his spare time, he enjoys playing video games, especially strategy-based games. He also enjoys reading in general with “The Witcher” series being one of his favorites. He enjoys anime and manga.

Christopher Belletzkic is a continuing, part-time college student at Norwalk Community College. He is majoring in psychology and is soon transferring to Western to continue his studies. He works full-time in Norwalk and aspires to get an advanced degree focusing on music psychology and the impact of sound on human behavior. His hobbies include digital illustration, tattoo designing, music composition, and enjoying nature. He gives his thanks to CLIO for giving him the opportunity to illustrate this year’s publication!

Rebecca Clark is a senior History student with a minor in Anthropology. After graduation at WCSU, she will be studying at University College Dublin for an MSc in Archaeology. She aspires to be a Field Archaeologist and professor. In her free time, she enjoys hiking, surfing, yoga, and traveling.

Contributors

David Frankel is an MA student in History at Western Connecticut State University. He earned his BA in Sociology from Hobart and William Smith Colleges and his MS in Broadcasting from Boston University. His life-long occupation is in advertising sales and mass media. He has also been involved in various local government commissions for many years. His current pursuit of a graduate degree in history is allowing him to exponentially expand my understanding of our world. This study is one of the most satisfying endeavors of his life.

Karen A. Keeler is a senior at Western Connecticut State University and looking forward to completing her Bachelor of Arts degree in History with honors this year. As a life-long learner, her passions include art, public history, genealogy, archaeology, and writing. She is the mother of two grown children, Andrew and Adrienne, and "Gramma" to three grandchildren, Nicholas, Claire, and Eliana. In her next pursuit, she hopes to combine her love of art and history.

Stephanie Miller is a senior at Western Connecticut State University and is graduating in May 2022 with a double major in History and English. In her free time, she enjoys spending time with family, being outdoors, exploring historical sights, and reading a good book, historical or fiction. She would like to thank everyone involved with CLIO for all the hard work they do and for making this possible.

